

IN GANDHI'S LAND - GUJARAT

Heated in the north by the deserts of Rajasthan, and cooled in the south by the gentle ocean breeze of the Arabian Sea, Gujarat forms India's westernmost bulkhead. Home to significant populations of Hindus, Jains, Muslims and Christians, as well as tribal and nomadic groups, the state boasts a patchwork of religious shrines and areas steeped in Hindu lore. Gujarat's commercial hub 'Ahmedabad' is a tangled mass of factories, mosques and temples. The city sprawls along the banks of the River Sabarmati, about 90km from its mouth in the Bay of Cambay, the mix of medieval and modern makes this city a compelling place to explore. Vadodara formerly known as Baroda is situated on the banks of river Vishwamitri Baroda has a rich historical background. The ardent historian can trace Baroda's history over 2000 years and more. The outstanding trait about Baroda's cultural life is that it is remarkably cosmopolitan. And while there are hundreds of different identities, everyone participates in all activities. So, the culture of the city is not just history or heritage; it is dynamic, ever-changing and alive.
